

BRITISH PEACE FETE LASTS UNTIL DAWN

Parks, Cafes, and Theaters
Filled With Wildly Enthusiastic Crowds.

LONDON, July 20.—Great Britain's celebration of peace officially culminated at 9 o'clock last night, but at that hour it had not even abated.

Great crowds filled the streets, the parks, the cafes and the theaters. Everyone was imbued with a spirit of gaiety more typical of Paris than London. There was every indication that tens of thousands would still be celebrating at dawn.

Demonstrations were held throughout the empire, but the greatest interest centered in the parade here. Nineteen thousand allied veterans, representing twelve nations, marched through the heart of the city between lines of wildly enthusiastic civilians. Their ranks extended for six miles and a half.

Tanks Lead Procession.
With General Pershing at their head, a composite regiment of 2,500 Americans led the procession. Field Marshal Haig headed the British forces, which were followed by the colonial troops. Others in line included 800 French and Italians, 400 Belgians and detachments from Serbia, Rumania, Portugal, Japan, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Greece, China and Siam.

Behind the soldiers marched 4,000 sailors and marines and 1,000 merchant seamen, led by Admiral Beatty. Six hundred women war workers also were in line.

King George Reviews Parade.
King George, from the Victoria Memorial, took the salute at Buckingham Palace. He was surrounded by his staff, in brilliant uniforms, and by high officials.

The city was decorated with flags and pennants, and last night many of the streets were illuminated with colored lights. A fireworks display was staged by the government.

There were pageants and choruses in all the city parks. One of the choruses, containing 10,000 voices, was directed by Dr. Charles Harris, of Santa Barbara, Cal.

PAYNE OPPOSED AS SHIP-BOARD HEAD

The future of the United States Shipping Board is problematical, with opposition in the Senate to the Presidential nominations for new members of the board increasing.

Senator Philipps of Colorado has filed a protest against the nomination of John Barton Payne as chairman of the board to succeed Edward Hurley.

Opposition to the appointment of Payne is based on his acts while counsel for the railroad administration. It was said by Senators. One of the acts which is charged against Payne is unfair treatment of the short-line railroads. Owners of short-line railroads are protesting that Payne, as counsel for the railroad administration, was largely responsible for the short-line roads being returned to their owners and denied the Government guarantee during the war on their earnings.

Payne will be given opportunity to appear before the Senate subcommittee and present his case and refute any charges which may be made against him.

FIRST DIVISION TO HONOR DEAD

The First Division of the American expeditionary forces will erect monuments on the battlefield of France in honor of its members who fell while attempting to hurl the Germans back, according to a letter received from Private C. W. Ryan, Washington boy and former employe of The Times, who is attached to the machine gun company of the Twenty-sixth Infantry, First Division.

At Cantigny, where the division first saw real action, will be erected a monument with brass plates on which will be inscribed the names of the 1,051 soldiers who died during the two months the division held that sector.

Another monument bearing the names of the 1,604 men who were killed will be erected at St. Mihiel, one at Saint Mihiel, where the First also fought, and two in the Argonne sectors.

The monuments will consist of a cement base ten feet high, surmounted by a stone wall, on which will be perched an eagle. They were designed by J. Davidson, a noted American sculptor.

The erection of the monuments will be under the supervision of Capt. H. L. Smith, of the army engineers.

U. S. MERCHANTS SOON TO GET GERMAN PASSPORTS

PARIS, July 20.—Following official confirmation by the American consulate that President Wilson has issued an order removing all trade restrictions with Germany, belief is expressed here that the next step will be the issuance of passports allowing American business men to pass into Germany.

It is expected that the order will be made public as soon as officials in Europe have completed arrangements with neutrals to handle American affairs in Germany until the treaty is ratified so that consuls may be sent into the country.

FLOWER CHAPLAIN OFF FOR KANSAS

Major Thomas J. Dickson, the "flower chaplain," left Washington for Fort Riley, Kansas, Friday. He has been visiting his niece, Mrs. Roy Porterfield, for several days at her home, 2001 Sixteenth street northwest.

Major Dickson recently returned from France, where he served during the war with the American First division as a chaplain with the Sixth field artillery. He bears the distinction of being the only member of the original First division who was not evacuated from the front in one of the five major operations in which his division participated, and wears a silver star—indicating a citation in general orders—on his campaign ribbon.

Major Dickson won his nickname, "the flower chaplain," by his custom of always visiting the sick and wounded bearing with him a bunch of flowers. He was known by this name by every man and officer of his regiment.

Once, the story goes, while fighting in front of Verdun, the "fighting parson" laid away his prayer book for a few minutes while he lay down behind a Browning machine gun and popped away at the Hun until relieved by a regular machine gunner.

Major Dickson's work on the battlefield was the subject of one of Don Martin's war stories in the New York Herald. He was among the first of the First to cross the Rhine into Germany, and after serving for some time with the army of occupation he was transferred to duty in this country. He has been assigned to Fort Riley, Kan. The major is a veteran of two wars, having served with the American army in Cuba during the Spanish-American war.

FLIER KILLED WHEN "AERO STRIKES HILL

Crashing into the side of a mountain in a thick fog yesterday morning, Lieut. Charles W. Lamborn, aerial mail flier between Bellefonte, Pa., and Cleveland, was fatally injured, dying while on the way to a hospital near Dix Run, Pa. The crash took place near Dix Run, at a point twelve miles west of Bellefonte.

"Lieutenant Lamborn left Bellefonte for Cleveland at 10:20 o'clock this morning," said Lieut. Charles I. Stanton, superintendent of the eastern division, aerial mail, last night. "He carried four hundred pounds of mail. The weather was cloudy, with heavy fog. The machine crashed to earth at Dix Run at 10:55 o'clock."

"An inspection of the plane, made just before starting, showed that everything was in good shape, according to the chief mechanic at Bellefonte. Both switches were on in the ship after the crash, showing that there had been no engine trouble. He probably crashed into the side owing to the fog. The plane was mountain, which he was unable to a total wreck."

The mail on the plane was recovered and taken to Cleveland on another plane at 1 o'clock, only a little behind schedule time.

Lieutenant Lamborn was from Hildreth, Neb., but had been in Washington for many months, and was well known here. Prior to his discharge from the army he was stationed at Bolling Field, Anacostia, from which he had done a good deal of flying over the city. He was a member of the Shriners.
